The Classic 300 Fun Run – South West Leg

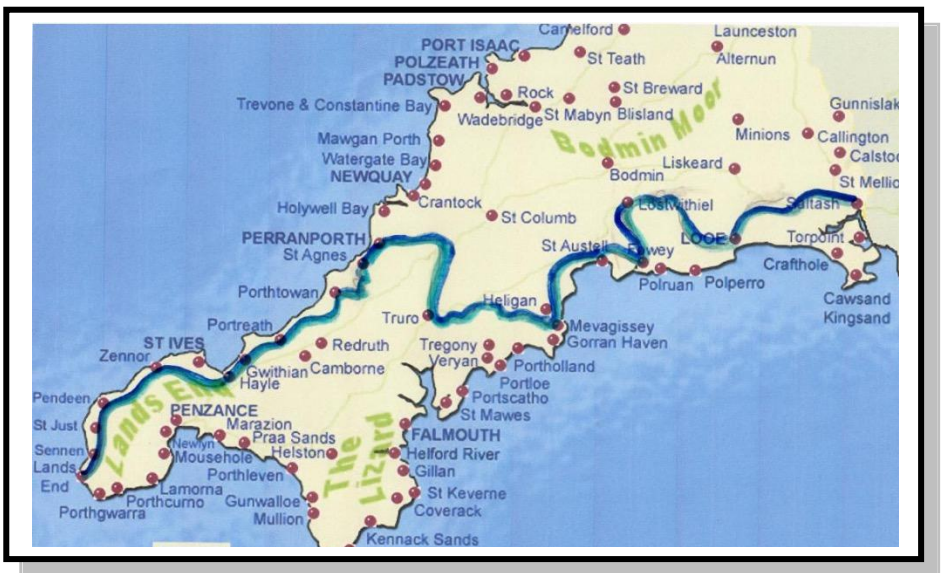
Sunday 20th August 2017

To showcase three hundred years of English Freemasonry (1717-2017), the Masonic Classic Vehicle Club is organising the Classic 300 - a series of individual classic car runs that will take place in England and Wales during 2017. The non-competitive classic car runs are for the enjoyment of the participants, and to be seen and enjoyed by members of the public. The runs are open to Masons and to those with an interest in Freemasonry, classic and future classic cars. In some cases motorcycles and commercial vehicles will also be included.

The Classic 300 launched on Sunday 21st May 2017 with a large gathering of vehicles at Windsor Great Park. Travelling gavels (made from con-rods) will be carried on the runs visiting many famous circuits and motoring venues, including the Isle of Man's TT circuit, and will eventually arrive at Brooklands motor circuit in Weybridge, Surrey, in October, where the event ends. Routes are organised regionally and it is hoped up to a thousand vehicles will participate.

The United Grand Lodge of England considers the Classic 300 to be a significant and colourful part of the tercentenary celebrations, which will also generate considerable specialist and general media coverage.

John Cole
MCVC Hon. Sec. & TC 300 Chairman



The South West route will start off in Saltash on the border with Devon, and wherever possible, wind down the scenic South coast past some of the counties historic fishing villages, whilst skirting the Cornish Riviera before stopping for lunch and then cutting across the county at Truro.

Once on the North Coast of the run will continue along the Coastal path, from meandering along the rugged granite cliff tops, to dipping down to the golden beaches which make the county one on the most popular holiday destination in the Country. This portion of the route will also take you past several abandoned mine engine houses, including the several featured in the BBC TV series Poldark at Pendeen, before coming to a conclusion 250ft above sea level at the most South Westerly part of the United Kingdom, the iconic Lands End

check out the website for full details http://www.classic300.org.uk/about and for registration if you wish to take part.

South West hosted by the Cornwall Masonic
Classic Car Club